

Lilly's Lope for Hope

A suicide awareness event that is held on the second Saturday in October, Lilly's Lope for Hope is an opportunity for local residents to raise awareness of signs of suicide and increase access to counseling services for youth in the Philomath and Corvallis communities.

Organized by Lilly's family, proceeds for Lilly's Lope for Hope will help to provide families with financial support for youth in need of mental health services, such as:

- Suicide prevention education
- School assemblies
- Counseling services

Getting help in your community

Families, educators and community members who believe their youth would benefit from these services are invited to speak with their local school counselor about accessing the Lilly's Lope for Hope proceeds to educate and raise awareness of suicide and inspire local youth to make a difference in their community. About Lilly

Lilly Stagner was a young lady with dreams, goals and accomplishments. She was beautiful, artistic and a friend to many.

She committed suicide on October 23, 2013.

Having a close family member or a friend commit suicide is almost indescribable.

The questions and guilt that haunt your thoughts are unbearable. What did you miss? Why? Did she know how much she was loved? Suicide affects so many people – not just the victim's family, but friends, teachers, community members...it starts a ripple effect.
